

David S. Li
Stacey Suver
CSE 300

Jackbox Party Pack Continues to Expand

Jackbox Games Announces Its Newest Pack of Party Games Yet

Chicago, IL, Nov 22, 2017 - Jackbox Games, the developer behind the original party pack, has announced the release of its latest pack of party games, the Jackbox Party Pack 4. This pack is just the latest in a series of games designed to be interactive in a party setting, playable using a person's smartphone without requiring any specially designed controllers. This set of games is the latest from a developer renowned for titles such as You Don't Know Jack and Quiplash. Party Pack 4 is expected to be released towards the end of this year, in time for the holiday shopping season.

In addition to another installment of Fibbage, a longtime Jackbox game where players try to fool others while guessing the correct answer to a question, this pack introduces four new hilariously absurd games: Survive the Internet, a game based on current social media trends, Monster Seeking Monster, a spooky twist on a speed dating game, Bracketeering, a fun twist on the classic debate, and Civil Doodle, a drawing game meant to be a fun new twist on previous games like Drawful.

The games can be played using a person's computer or smartphone and require no special equipment or controllers, only a steady internet connection. Players join games by entering a specific room code tailored to the particular game. The amount of players that can partake in a game ranges from 3 to 16, and up to 10,000 additional players can participate as audience members. The pack of games includes provisions for livestreaming, extended timers for audience play, and censoring to keep games age-appropriate.

"These five crowd-slaying party games combine to make The Jackbox Party Pack 4 the series' best installment yet" says Evan Jacover, Vice President of Engineering at Jackbox Games. "Jackbox Games' mission is to continue to innovate and make gaming more accessible for billions (Jacover)."

The party pack is due to be released on several platforms, including Playstation 4, Xbox One, Nintendo Switch, Apple TV, and Nvidia Shield. The games will also be playable on PC and Mac via the Steam store.

For the latest from Jackbox Games, visit www.jackboxgames.com, and follow the studio on Facebook, Twitter and Twitch.

About Jackbox:

Jackbox Games, formerly Jellyvision Games, is a developer and publisher of party games on major gaming platforms and home entertainment devices. Founded in 1995, the studio is best known for comedic party games like YOU DON'T KNOW JACK, Fibbage, Quiplash and Drawful. Jackbox Games “makes the world’s best party games” according to Business Insider. YOU DON'T KNOW JACK has been called “the greatest quiz-show game ever made” by The Onion’s A.V. Club. All current-generation Jackbox games feature the innovative use of mobile devices as controllers, allowing anyone with an internet-connected phone, tablet or laptop to join a game without the need for extra game controllers. Players connect to games on their devices by visiting <http://jackbox.tv> and entering the custom game code displayed via the system hosting the game. This unique concept also allows for games that involve secret player input. The digital release of The Jackbox Party Pack, a massive collection of five party games, was named “Best Local Multiplayer Game of the Year” by Giant Bomb. The company is located in Chicago, Illinois. (Jacover)

Press Contact:

Mike Bilder

Communications Lead

Jackbox Games Inc.

pr@jackboxgames.com

Works Cited

Jacover, Evan. Breaking: The Jackbox Party Pack 4 Launching the Week of October 17. 27 September 2017. 22 November 2017.